

CURRICULUM VITAE

Name: Dimitrios Daoussis

Place and date of birth: 12th September 1972, Ontario Canada

I graduated from the Medical School of Patras University on 1996. I completed my training in Rheumatology in Patras University Hospital on 2005. I worked as a Consultant in Rheumatology (Department of Rheumatology, Dudley Group of Hospitals NHS Trust, Russells Hall Hospital, Birmingham, UK) from Jan 2006 to Nov 2006. I was awarded Ph.D from the Medical School of Patras University on 2006. I worked as a Consultant in Rheumatology in Patras University Hospital from 2006 to 2009. I am currently working as a Lecturer of internal Medicine/Rheumatology in Patras University Hospital.

My main research interests are i) the role of B cells in the pathogenesis of fibrosis in Systemic Sclerosis and ii) mechanisms of bone and joint remodelling in rheumatic diseases.