DIPLOMA SUPPLEMENT

This Diploma Supplement is based on the model developed by the European Commission, Council of Europe and UNESCO/CEPES. The purpose of the supplement is to provide sufficient independent data to improve the international 'transparency' and fair academic and professional recognition of qualifications (diplomas, degrees, certificates etc.). It is designed to provide a description of the nature, level, context, content and status of the studies that were pursued and successfully completed by the individual named on the original accompanying qualification to which this supplement is appended. It should be free from any value judgments, equivalence statements or suggestions about recognition. Information in all eight sections should be provided. Where information is not provided, an explanation should give the reason why.

1. INFORMATION IDENTIFYING THE HOLDER OF THE QUALIFICATION
1.1 Family Name(s)		1.2 Given Name(s)

4.2	Programme requirements
	Studies at the Medical School last six years and are divided into two levels: theoretical education and clinical training. Theoretical education is held during the first four years (eight semesters). It is initiated with the teaching of the basic (pre-clinical) branches, supplemented by laboratory training and continues with the teaching of the clinical branches supplemented with the hospital training. Hospital training of clinical branches is held on the fifth and sixth year of studies, after the completion of all theoretical courses, both preclinical and clinical. Graduating the Faculty of Medicine requires attendance of six academic years and a passing score in all courses of the curriculum. Details on (http://www.med.upatras.gr/en/Pages/undergrad/courses.aspx). The Medical Curriculum of the University of Patras aims on the following learning outcomes, summarized in ten objectives: 1. Perception that practicing of medicine requires scientific knowledge and humanitarian response to the patient. 2. High moral and academic criteria. 3. Knowledge of the structure, function and development of the human body. 4. Knowledge of the mechanisms of cause and effect and their role in the manifestation of the disease. Knowledge of the basis of medication therapy. 5. Skills of recording a patient's medical history and performing physical examination. Knowledge of the mostcommon and rare diseases that directly endanger the patient's life. 6. Understanding the effects of the environment on human health and the responsibility of the physicians on the prevention of a disease. 7. Perception that medical practice requires continuing education and objective self-evaluation. 8. Ability to collaborate efficiently within clinical or research groups. 9. Ability to work efficiently in medical services, from the community's medical center to the University's clinic. 10. Interest in basic, translational and clinical research and basic knowledge in research. Ability to deal effectively with the medical situations they will face after their graduation.
4.3	Programme details: (e.g. modules or units studied), and the individual grades/marks/credits obtained: The courses in which the above person has been examined and has received a passing degree and/or grade recognition are distinguished into the following subjects: C: compulsory courses/clinical training, SE: semi elective courses/clinical training, FL: foreign language, as follows:
