

Dr Philippos Gourzis is a recipient of the M.D. degree. He is an Associate Professor of psychiatry and Head of the Department of Psychiatry at the School of Medicine, University of Patras, Rio, Greece. He attended the School of Medicine of the University of Ioannina until 1988 and completed his internship in Platanos-Nafpaktos, Greece, in 1989. He completed his residency at the Department of Neurology, the University of Patras, in 1990, and then completed his residency at the Department of Psychiatry, the University of Patras, in 1993. Until 2000 he served as a Private Practitioner. Dr. Gourzis joined the University of Patras, Patras, Greece, in 2000, and from 2000 to 2008 served as a Lecturer at the Department of Psychiatry, from 2008 to 2010 worked as an Assistant Professor at the Department of Psychiatry, and from 2010 up to now has been an Associate Professor at the Department of Psychiatry. He joined the Greek Board of Psychiatry in 1994, and he has been a Doctor of medical sciences at the University of Patras since 1999. Courses he is teaching are psychiatry, introduction to clinical skills and first aids, bioethics, and psychiatry (clinical training). Dr. Gourzis is the author of more than 30 articles and has given lectures on a broad range of topics in general psychiatry. He received 3 awards for his work. He is reviewer for the journals of "Journal of Clinical Psychopharmacology", "Schizophrenia Research", "Alzheimer's Dementia", "Clinical Psychology: Science and Practice", "Journal of Clinical and Experimental Neuropsychology", "Neurocase", "ISRN Psychiatry" and member of the Editorial Boards of "Journal of Neurology and Psychology", "Advances in Medicine", "Dataset Papers in Medicine" and "ISRN Psychiatry". His research areas include schizophrenia, depression, neuropsychiatric disorders, psychopharmacology, dementia, prodromal schizophrenia and tardive dystonia.